Wallis Offers To Make Restitution For Missing Funds

$3,000 Cash In Escrow Pending Outcome Of Guilty Plea

The case of A. L. "Dutch" Wallis was brought before the City Commission again Wednesday night. Samuel Phillips, Jr., attorney for Wallis, proposed a meeting with the City Commission for the purpose of allowing them to reach an agreement for Wallis to make restitution for his continued embezzlement of City funds.

A bonding company has made good $10,000 of the $12,000 balance in Wallis' hands, which he desires it to pay back the balance himself, according to attorney Phillips. Wallis' trial is in State hands, but Phillips wants to use the proposed meeting if an agreement is reached in that trial, hoping Judge Reeves would see enough good in Wallis' actions to warrant granting the defendant leniency.

Phillips informed the commission that Wallis could make $35,000 from a source in South Carolina. Wallis, who is placed in escrow immediately, Wallis said he could then make the balance in eight monthly payments of $1,000, the city to be protected legally in a manner to their liking.

Mayor Rabin, presiding, asked Phillips to have the $35,000 sent on immediately and that a special meeting would be called and they notified of the exact time and place.

Pepper States Belief In Small Business Man

Purchasing power of the working class is the key to recovery of a nation—STAFF

Senator Claude Pepper, Florida's first senator, in an address in front of the Belle Glade High School Monday night, stated that the United States has the highest wages scale in the world and the greatest prosperity.

"When those at the bottom of the economic ladder are lifted up, the nation will be saved," he said.

Noted Speaker To Show Movie And Give Talk On Florida Water Birds

The public is invited to attend the lecture at the Everglades Theatre next Wednesday, March 15, when Alexander Sprunt, Jr., of the National Audubon Society will talk and show moving pictures on Florida water birds.

Mr. Sprunt has been with the National Audubon Society many years and for a number of years conducted (flying) tours out of Okechobee City for the study of Florida water birds.

This program is presented by the P.T.A. arrangements in charge of Mrs. R. V. Allison, program chairman, and will replace the regular P.T.A. meeting.

The Kaufman are entitled to two days vacation, all expenses paid, at Butler's Vacation Village. The price was donated by the resort, according to George C. Young, Chamber of Commerce secretary.

Outlining the functions and evolution of chamber of commerce, J. Kenneth Johnson, manager of the Miami Chamber of Commerce, presented the principal address.

Making a plea for greater community cooperation, Johnson said, "Make Belle Glade a town with a united spirit for a constructive program of these things which the people believe will be for the best interests of the greatest number."

The fundamental purpose of the Chamber of Commerce today is to aid the people to day in the future.

Carrying out a vegetable dinner included steaks produced on the VanLandingham Brothers Ranch and vegetables from present harvest.

Time of the play was autumn of that year. Scene was the premises of an inn that formed a part of a Malabar fishing village. The play was by Ted Pope, and Elmer, a young village girl, was acted by Joanne Tucker. Mamma Gomez, the fat, energetic wife of the innkeeper, was played by Betty Burry. Papa Gomez, the innkeeper, a kindly, pipe-smoking ex-fisherman (who nearly copied the part of Rancos, young fisherman and childhood sweetheart of Elmer), was played by Elmer.

County Teachers Held Meeting Here

A representative group of 15 teachers gathered for the annual Glades Area Palm Beach County Classroom Teachers Association meeting last Saturday in the high school auditorium.

Main topic under discussion in the morning business meeting was whether teachers should be under social security. At the present time, teachers have their own system of retirement compensation.

A bill regarding the subject of retirement was introduced by Judge White and provoked the discussion. The group concluded they would rather remain under the present retirement plan.

Meeting adjourned to a Glades dinner, arranged by Mrs. F. D. Stevens, cafeteria manager. Refreshments included Glades grown flowers and vegetables.

Vegetable decorations were centered each table, and the produced was presented to visiting teachers.

Vegetable shipments by rail road dipped slightly this week against last, but car lot movement by truck compensated with a small rise.

Goods transported by truck as come from L. Walker Trucking, Vison Henderson Trucking, A. E. Brumley and Sons Trucking, and J. M. Brown total 173 this week. This represents a rise of two loads since last week.

Elk Barbecue Opens Boy Scout Explorer Program

"Generous" is another adjective which might be placed before the word "Barbecue" in the title of that organization familiar to many of us, "the Elk".

At least, that is the impression one might receive from the magnificent hospitality displayed by the Belle Glade Lodge last Thursday night, when all local Scout organizations were guests at a barbecue given by the club.

Occasion for the feast was the formation of an Explorer Group among the two Scout Troops in town. In Scouting, the Explorer program calls for a unit made up of not less than five Scouts, fifteen years of age or more. Some worthy and responsible civic or religious group must take charge of the unit and father it. In this town, the Elk have graciously accepted that responsibility.

"Botta and Rats"—
Seniors exhibit their versatility when "Botta and Rats" is performed at 8 p.m. in the gym on March 21.

Miss Flagg (Audrey Bachman) will prove to her audience that a closed door can be a very dangerous thing; but Clippy Caldwell will do his best to convince his "first nighters" that a closed door will make a "closed door" look like sugar and spice.

Sugar and spice immediately brings Little Wilbur Glesop to mind. He is a little angel (Adrian Rashley) who believes in a religion of slung shots, pinches, and protruding tongues. Wilbur's mother, Mrs. Gerlie Glesop (Dorcas Matheson), also has a religion. This religion is her one and only darling—Wilbur!

Last but not least, Little Spinkus (Marlette Campbell) is a not-so-efficient maid but she certainly does have a "blinking" way with the men. And how she does it! Let's see! Grubb (Joanne Kent) who did the cooking for poor old Benjamin Bolt! Martha drives "Coffee" Little to distraction with her mournful, hand-dog look and her moaning; growling volunteers fly that it's gonna be ice!

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bove are parents of a boy and a girl, born March 8, at Good Samaritan Hospital, West Palm Beach. The boy weighed 3 1/2 pounds and the girl 4 pounds.

Belle Glade High School Students

They appeared before the February 24 luncheon meeting of the Rotary Club, under the direction of Charles H. Dixon, head of the social studies department.

Elect Tonight Will Elect 'Little Miss'

The children will first be presented on the stage separately, later in a group, and each person in the audience to have one vote in selecting the queen. The runners-up will be the queen's attendants.

Following the presentation of the children, a show of local talent, selected from first grade through high school, will be given, followed by crowning of the queen. Tickets are 24 cents for children, 50 cents for adults.

will be used to send delegates to Tallahassee March 17 and 18; to attend the State PTA meeting, at which time there will be an election of national officers. Local delegates are Kathryn Friedman and Kay Lutz, incoming president and vice-president. Alternates are Clara and Emma Stein, Joan Kent and Ann Babin. Mrs. Fritz Stein and Mrs. Ray ## operation.

Glades interests are not happy that a sugar producing operation has had to "go thru the wringer" and wish for it a successful long time continuation. Hopes for this are high because of the showing made by a governmental alphabetical organization.

In the Glades where the "usual" is usual, there is a beam of satisfaction that a financial undertaking utilizing agricultural credit can succeed financially when operated by bankers; the fact that they are government bankers makes success the more significant.

"We will operate the plantation," says Mr. Lawrence, president of the creditor bankers, "until a purchaser comes along and assure us of a plan for continued operation."

FIRST ANNUAL BULL SALE

mature pure bred bulls will increase with development of local breeding herds," Young says.

An atmosphere as cattle conscious as that of any western frontier town prevailed. Sharp accents of the auctioneer pierced speculation of the crowd. Like famous tobacco auctioneers, the seller flung phrases unobtainable to the ordinary listener, but completely clear to the bidders. With a flick of the hand, three assistants before the stands communicated to the auctioneer related bids. Buyers included Nathan Holmes, Okeechobee; Wright Brothers, Sarasota; Marcellino Farms, Valdesia, Georgia; W. W. McCurdy, Pahokee; Lakes Worth Farms, Green Cove Springs; George F. Johnson, West Palm Beach; E. D. Sanders, Orange Park; and Vandergrift-Williams, Pahokee.

Two while bruhman steers, weighing over a ton a piece, were displayed to show what can be done on lush Everglades pastures. The Brahman appeared in 1949 in the Brahman Centennial in Charleston, South Carolina, when the breed was introduced into the United States.

Guiding the spirited cattle in the pit was Snooks Burton, one of the top men in the country and manager and cattle trainer of the Durrance Ranch, only two miles from the place where the sale. One was by a 4-11 Club boy, owner of a three year old bull.

Consignors of cattle included: VanLandingham Brothers, Belle Glade; Vandergrift-Williams, Pahokee; Durrance Ranch, Brighton; and Polk Brahman Farms, Winter Haven.

PEPPER STATES

the pyramid is prosperous, it is reflected in the welfare of those at the top," he stated.

He pointed out the importance of general prosperity to Florida and especially to the Glades. Workers of the north and west provide the biggest market for Glades produced vegetables. He also explained that tourists annually spend millions of dollars in Florida cities.

"One and a half billion dollars have been poured into Florida since I entered the Senate, and one billion have passed to Florida farmers and business men since that time."

Citing proof of general prosperity ushered in by the Roosevelt administration, Pepper stated that retail sales have increased five times.

"Banking resources were four times as large in 1948 as in 1939 and average salaries are twice as great. Farming has increased from $1.5 billion in 1937 to $3.5 billion in 1948."

"We are better off today than ever before. After paying federal taxes, salaries netted three times more in 1949 than in 1939."

Reviewing the Flood Control Program, Pepper stated that he did not mind making when it was under consideration.

"The program also will improve navigation and result in lower freight rates for this area," he said.

To clarify his stand on a national health program, he said, "I advocate free choice to doctors and free choice to patients in a program enabling every citizen of the land to receive needed medical attention."

He also reviewed his fight for hospital care for veterans and for obtaining federal funds for the establishment of badly needed medical schools.

While his stand on international relations, he stated his supreme desire is to see differences settled around the conference table rather than by devastating war.

"I believe in a policy of firmness and patience."

Depicting the spirit of the Perry chain in Florida, Pepper complimented the local paper for withholding the degrading monopoly and stated that he was glad to see "it was master of its own fate."

During the address, Senator Pepper outlined his favorable stands on expanding social security, increasing veterans' benefits, and increasing aid to medical research programs. He denied his advocacy of race mingling.

ELK BARBECUE

steak ribs were seasoned to make the mouth water and finished over hot coals under the careful supervision of Woodrow Bush, ably assisted by the Elks' regular colored cook, William Pruitt. Supporting the spare ribs was a cast of those well known characters, baked beans and potato salad. For the Scouts, lots of soda pop; for the adults, coffee; for all, rolls, doughnuts and cookies. A dash of cool night air (that promised the next morning frost) added considerable zest to the appetites of all present.

There were about one hundred people at the barbecue, Scouts from Troops 88 and 22, the whole Cub Pack and their den mothers, some parents and the Elk Constituents.

After the barbecue, the older Scouts assembled in the Elk's council room to receive a slide-tape lecture by Harold Morgan, Scout Executive for the Gulf Stream Council. The talk bore much information concerning Explorer Scouting, the most recent and advanced phase of Scouting, which is designed to aid adolescent youths in adjusting their attitudes of childhood to the more serious business of being "grown up."

When the lecture was finished, the Elks elected six of their number as officers who will be directly responsible for the new Explorer Group. Institutional Representative is Henry O. Barwood, Group Adviser is Bert Robinson, Sam Berry, "Black" Kirchman, Doug Watson and Clyde Clayton form the Explorer Committee.

HIGH SCHOOL GLEE CLUB

ma faced by Papa Gomez's daughter Elena, when she had to choose between one of the two, either go with Chopin, the constant where she would have a chance to develop her singing and become famous, or remain on the life with her childhood sweetheart, family and friends, to live the life of these simple folk.

Chopin, when Elena thought the loved, solved the problem for her when he decided to return alone, thinking it better not to disturb the peaceful life of these folk. He saw that the fast, complex life to which he had become accustomed would not be compatible with that of Elena.

Six girls played the part of Elena's friends; three played friends to Mama Gomez's. There were 3 fisherman chums, four smugglers, a chorus of village youths and fishermen and a chorus of twenty village girls.

Most of the chorus members and dancers were dressed in gay, colorful costumes of plaited, woven and knitted materials. They utilized talcum powder in making their cornucopia pipe.

Musical numbers in the operetta were, in Scene 1, an overture; Basilio Waters, Comrades of the Flying Spray, in a Merry Roundelay; We Are Upon a Bunch; in My Heart a Song; I Chanted Lull; Once Upon a Summer Day; Carle of Sings; Evening Bell; and in Scene 2, Little Song; Smuggler's Song; If I Could Make Dreams Come True; Sweet Day; Instrumental from Nocturne; and Blow, Winds, Gently Today. All Chopin melodies and excerpts by Marianne Womack, pianist.

Dorothy Kilder said "Calm As The Night," preceding the operetta.

A crew of dancing pirates, all flourishing curved and wicked-looking broadswords and jolts by Freddie Stevens, highlighted the play at one point when they sang the "Smuggler's Song."

The girl chorus did a cute number called "We Are Busy Ladies." (Scotch, D-a-n-c-e), in which they were reawakened hanging up clothes. Papa Gomez said to get his high-handed red flannels into the act.

He drew more laughs when he attempted to blow his long pipe-like bassoon in competition with the singers. This last act, by the way, was led by Miss Murphy says, "Shirley McCraven, Patsy and Jerry dreamed it up and injected it by themselves. Nobody objected."

Orchids to the whole Glee Club and Miss Murphy for a charming and gracefully executed play.

Was it a success? Well, "yes," might properly describe the acting and music, but a considerably more restricted term would have to be used in appraising the figures on gate receipts and attendance.

Total attendance, paid and unpaid, was around 170. No receipts, before tax deductions, were over $100.00. The healthy digits, when you consider the fact that forty-old high school students and 3 or 4 teachers had devoted hours that added into days of their precious time, as well as money and materials, in order that they might present their parents and town folk with interesting and wholesome entertainment.

Although the kids held a narrow showing before their grammar school mates and rang up $27 at ten cents per child, the grand total take ($90) still does not match the operetta expenses. $51.25 alone went for special books containing the program music. $3.50 for tickets. And the forty-old students dug into their own jeans for money to buy costume material at an average of $3.70 each. That's $202.75 (being conservative).

Somebody had to make those costumes. The group cranked them. They should have taken three weeks' training into ten days. They had the use of a stage only 2 times and had to argue to get it that many.

Only 170 people attended, out of the city's three or four thousand white population. That's 7000. Too bad some of these activity-laden evenings couldn't be permitted to permit a lot more support behind the Glee Club.

Kids. True, they had fun, but fun won't pay their way to the District Festival in Miami which was their stated objective in presenting the operetta. (And admission was only 40 and 38 cents.)

It's not too late to help the operetta, because tickets are on sale for the Festival, which is next Friday and Saturday.

citizens, and conducting a vigorous letter-writing program.

The jocular, good natured Jerry, as he is known to hundreds of thousands of Florida voters, has served on the railroad commission since 1938. In the 1934 primaries he defeated five other candidates, including the incumbent commissioner, and since then has been re-elected by increasingly large majorities in three other elections.

Jerry Carter was the leader in the famous southern government rate case, which resulted in the first downward revision of freight rates for the south. When before the interstate commerce commission have recently testified the savings to Florida shippers by that rate case run to nearly $2,000,000 a year.

He started his business life as a peddler at the age of 19, moved to Florida at 31, and quickly became active in Democratic party work. He and Mrs. Carter, the former Mary Francis Holfield of Pensacola, are the parents of seven sons. He became state hotel commissioner in 1931, and was reappointed by two succeeding governors.

While state hotel commissioner, Jerry Carter began state-wide advertising campaign to invite tourists to Florida, the foundation of the present state tourist appeal. He wrote the first building, electrical, plumbing and sanitary codes for Florida, and began a modern system of inspection for the hotel industry which began its first full-scale growth while Carter was commissioner.

Hybrids, both in plants and animals, often are healthier than thoroughbreds. According to House Beautiful magazine, three-fourths of the corn now grown in the United States is hybrid stuff produced by controlled cross-pollination. In 1939 seed catalogues, there's also a hybrid watermelon.

THIS IS HISTORY! A LITTLE, BUT HISTORY, VERY MUCH HISTORY.

NOTE THESE STYLE LINES WELL. They're straight out of the Buick Riviera book—and they check literature that are coming at much-higher-priced cars.

FORE AND AFT - a Beauty and a Buy

It's little, long and lovely—and it calls not just for one look, but for two.

See how this sleek Sedan looks coming down the highway, the sense of high-speed thrusting with power, and the wide, carving, unbroken sweep of a one-piece windshield giving you horizon-wide outlook.

And spot the pretty picture you make going away.

The broad, wrap-around rear window and topside styling in the Buick Riviera manner.

The graceful, spacious trunk, the "double bubble" tailfins, the sense of high-speed thrusting in everything from rear fender lines to the curve of the roof.

Yes, that's beauty—beauty in the unmistakable Buick manner. But observe also:

Interiors are extra roomy in all dimensions. The biggest you can buy for the money, we believe—and bigger than many higher-priced cars.

And, since this is a Buick Super, there's sensational new power under the hood—Buick's own F-263 Fireball straight-eight, this year's big news in valve-in-head power.

Yes, when you go stepping in this one, you'll really step—with roominess and top-drawer styling and the level going of all-steel springing—yes, and the Dynaflow Drive™ too, if you choose—making your pleasure complete.

The price? Well, drop in on your Buick dealer, ask about the SUPER 126 and be prepared for happy listening. Here's a buy—a buy you'll see no time getting behind a Buick wheel.

for the purpose of publishing a state-wide magazine, VIEW. The magazine, according to its founder, will make its first appearance with the May issue.

The venture is being financed through the sale of common stock at $10 a share per value. The Florida Securities Commission this week approved the application of the corporation to handle its own issue, and stock is now available for the first time to the general public.

J. Fredrick Gaines, former editor of the University of Florida newspaper, the Alligator, conceived the idea for such a publication five years ago. Gaines, designated several years ago by Senator Spessard Holland as one of the future leaders of the state, sold his idea to several other outstanding graduates of the University, including Ed Tucker, Bill Boyd, and Travis Messer. Since then, the idea has ripened into reality.

The greatest step in organization was achieved last month when the initial stockholders met in Orlando to draft by-laws and elect the Board of Directors. The Board is made up of the following: Lloyd Gahr, Raymer Maguire, Jr., Loomis Leedy, and Gaines, all of Orlando; Ed Tucker and Bill Boyd, Gainesville; W. A. Carlson, Wausau; N. Davis, 24, Frost; Fred Jaeger and F. W. Rugg, Daytona Beach.

Other stockholders in the corporation include such outstanding Florida business-men as T. F. Phillips, President, Gulf Life Insurance Co., George B. Howell, President, Marine Bank and Trust Co., Tampa; Fred Trosch, President, St. Johns River Line Co., A. C. Hankins, President, Porter Bait Manufacturing Co., J. Tom Gurney, Orlando attorney; Frank Hubbard, Hubbard Construction Co., Dick Pope, Cypress Gardens; W. L. Waring, President, Lyons Ferry Co., Tampa; Gus Shurtlett, Tampa Tribune; Lou Wolfson, Jacksonville; and those and finally, the parental responsibility stage, the author continues: "Of course, it's made me an Ideal Parent, but I don't know what effect it's had on the children. By this time (college age) they're supposed to be the finished product—loved and loved, respected and respected, and all that. But I don't know. Recently I was sitting in a chair and there was a flash of light and an electric bell. The children were preparing to leave for a hike. They were just checking gear when one of them said, 'Dad, you see if Papa's plugged in!'"

"And there you are," the author concludes. "Solidly into the future, you melt and slip away, that would have had Grandfather rearing around for the carriage w/hip. Whatever it means, don't ask me. You'll have to go to the experts for the answer."

Dad Bogs Child-Raising Experts To Add Method To Their Madness

There are parents in this country who believe that there's nothing wrong with a modern, so-called "child-raising expert" that couldn't have been cured 20 years ago—in the woodshed at the same expert's father.

"I expect to be a grandfather in a few years," says a spokesman for this group, "and then I can resign my present over-riding position. Twenty years of trying to raise children the way somebody else tells me to."

Exceptions are put into the contract because, were this company to include these expected hazards, the cost of such insurance would be prohibitive.

You should have a clear conception of your contract so that you know exactly what coverage you have, to avoid any possibility of your suffering an uninsured loss.

If there are any parts of your insurance policy which you do not understand we would be pleased to explain them to you. Call us at any time.

and then finding out I'm all wrong is just too much. The March issue of Good Housekeeping magazine, which contains an article titled, "The Ideal Parent," adds this footnote to the author's lament: The editors assume no responsibility for these statements until the twelfth anniversary. It was fairly respectable to be a parent—Children were taught to be obedient and respectful and loving, failing which they knew they could expect to catch it either in the lavatory or in the wood shed.

"But two or three decades ago," the article continues, "open season on parents was declared and it's been the open season in history. Nobody needed a license to take a polio. The judge on the bench and the policeman on the beat, the teacher at her annual convention and the pastor in the pulpit—these and others (not forgetting the children) have been having a field day with everything from bricks to dynamite guns—All the worst of today are blamed on the parents—fathers and mothers—That's our Commemorative! That's our Commemorative! We're going to sit it right here and pass the blame to the experts."

The author then tells why he thinks the accusers are barking up the wrong side of the family tree. "They told us we were rank amateurs," he says, "fooling around in such graduate specialties as psychology, pediatrics, and dietetics. We said, Right. They told us we tended to do our work in a haphazard way. Check. And we said, Okay. We're listening; tell us what to do and we'll do it. And we do. We're wrong as a New England weatherman all the time."

After recounting the ball cycle from father autonomy through the period when the child was treated as a Disobedient Violator, then through the "everybody is everybody's pal" era and then, finally, to the present parental responsibility stage, the author continues: "Of course, it's made me an Ideal Parent, but I don't know what effect it's had on the children. By this time (college age) they're supposed to be the finished product—loved and loved, respected and respected, and all that. But I don't know. Recently I was sitting in a chair and there was a flash of light and an electric bell. The children were preparing to leave for a hike. They were just checking gear when one of them said, 'Dad, you see if Papa's plugged in!'"

"And there you are," the author concludes. "Solidly into the future, you melt and slip away, that would have had Grandfather rearing around for the carriage w/hip. Whatever it means, don't ask me. You'll have to go to the experts for the answer."

Popular Radio Program Hostess Gives Tips On Conversation

If you ever have to spend time with people you find hard to converse with, try to make them say something. They've never said before—perhaps never even thought about before.

That's the advice of Mary Margaret McBride, popular radio interviewer, who talks with all kinds of folk, from former First Ladies to prize fighters, on her daily program.

Writing on the subject of conversation in the March issue of Good Housekeeping magazine, Miss McBride says: "When you learn, by listening properly, to draw people out, new facets of personality are exposed, priceless stories are retold, and confidences are given—almost every variety of revelation has come tumbling into the microphone from lips unwarmed by my genuinely intense—if professional—interest."

As an example of how much interesting information can be stimulated by a skillful listener, the author cites the case of Billie Burke and her successful book. When Miss McBride asked the actress how she had brought herself to be so forthcoming about her own emotions, nervous, doubts and triumphs, Miss Burke answered:

"Oh, I didn't. You see, this man who did the writing with me would come and talk to me. He was so nice that I'd just naturally tell him everything. Then, when he'd go away, I'd think, 'Heaven, I can't get that in a book! So I'd telephone him and beg him to leave that part out. But he wouldn't, so that's how it all got in!'"

The author states that the prime requisite of a Good Listener is the ability to forget oneself. She points out that, during interviews, she is prepared to play any role from straight snort to comedienne.

"Anyone," she concludes, "can do the same in a living room."

Jeweler's Rouser

If you're tired of polishing your silver every time you take it out, you're probably better off with a product called Jeweler's Rouser. It comes in the form of a heavy paste and one application will keep your sterling shining indefinitely. House Beautiful magazine will tell you where to buy it in the event that your own dealer doesn't stock it.

Pea Washing 'Tip

Here's a really easy way to brighten the inside of an aluminum cooking utensil that's been neglected or badly discolored while in use. The procedure, as recommended by Good Housekeeping magazine, is to boil a solution of 3 cups of water, for about ten minutes. Cooking acid foods, such as tomatoes, rhubarb, and applesauce, in an aluminum utensil brightens it and in no way affects the food.

Shin Splints Are Chief Cause Of Foot Trouble

Thirty percent of women, ten percent of men have foot troubles caused by unwise buying, and even better, by bad shoes. Which, of course, is a serious matter when you consider the fact that shoes are worn for so long a time. The shoe industry has been trying to do better.

These are the findings of an expert who writes on the subject of "Do Your Shoes Fit." In the March issue of Good Housekeeping magazine. And here are some of the foot and shoe troubles that can be avoided by the man or woman who "just goes in to buy a new pair of shoes."

Your feet may get longer, but your shoes won't. The stretching and straining done to shoes in a store can't last. It can prove a great mistake to buy your shoes early in the day. The shoe is always worn may be the wrong size now. A snug fit on a cold, dry day can be an agony when the weather changes. A lightweight shoe can be more trying than a heavy one.

A shoe should be roomy enough at the tip that when standing, you can at least wiggle your "big toe" behind the base of the big toe. It should be snug enough to firmly grip your instep and your heel. Your foot can "grow" a full size long in the course of an active day, the extra length being added by the constant weight you have laid on your foot.

Your foot has four dimensions. And the fourth is the most important. Your foot has a shape. A shoe must be shaped exactly like your foot when you are standing.

On the subject of women's shoes, the expert says, it's foolish to change suddenly up or down from the heel height regularly worn. Back muscles of the leg and thigh become shortened with constant wear of extremely high heels so that a sudden shift to low heels will cause great discomfort. For walking, no heel at all are as tiring as high heels. Orthopedists maintain that even bedroom slippers should have heels. Otherwise, incidentally, don't object to open-toe styles provided the opening is placed so it does not cause the big toe to bend toward the center.
